

PRIEST "EXILED" IN RACIAL DISPUTE

H. Taylor one of Inaugural Ball Co-Directors

WASHINGTON (NPI) — Hobart Taylor, Jr., executive vice-chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunities, has been named co-director of one of four Presidential Inaugural Balls.

Warren G. Woodward, Inaugural Ball chairman, said that Taylor and Mrs. Joseph Clark, wife of the Pennsylvania senator, will be directors of the ball at the National Guard Armory.

Sen. Daniel Brewster of Maryland, Mrs. Thomas Mann, wife of the assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, will be at the Mayflower Hotel.

At the Sheraton Park ball, John A. Logan, a management consultant, and Mrs. Clark Clifford, wife of a former aide to President Truman, will be in charge.

Co-directors at the Shoreham Hotel will be William Benton, US ambassador to the UNESCO, and Mrs. Eugene Anderson, former U.S. minister to Bulgaria.

The four balls will be held simultaneously and it is expected that President Johnson will put in a brief appearance at each of them.

WASHINGTON (NPI)—Invitations to attend the Inauguration festivities will be sent to every Negro who holds an elective office, according to a spokesman at Inauguration committee headquarters here.

Plans for the gala four day period Jan. 17-20, are being worked out by committees which include a record number of Negroes.

Invitations to the Inaugural Ball, to be held in four locations in the city, were mailed last weekend. Guests attending the Ball will pay $25 a person. Boxes for groups of eight may be reserved for $750.

Hotel space will be a premium that weekend. Leading downtown hotels already report that they are sold out for the period. Other hotels, uptown, and on the outskirts of the city, including the Dunbar, at 18th and U Sts., are also partially sold out.

Hotel managers are asking that reservations be made for the entire four day period, and paid for in advance.

New Year begins on grim note for Eastside mother

A 22-year-old mother's hope that her baby, victim of a bold day-time abduction, would be back home for the New Year grew dim this week.

As a final resort, Mrs. Norma Young, 1712 College, is appealing to anyone with information concerning her 15-month-old son's whereabouts to contact Detective Sgt. Howard Kramer.

Sgt. Kramer can be reached by phoning ME. 3-7950.

Mrs. Young told police she was walking in the 600 block of W. 16th late last week when a stranger offered to hold her son while the mother ran a halfblock to retrieve a prescription slip she had dropped.

When Mrs. Young returned to the spot the woman and her baby were gone. She described the stranger as Negro, about five feet, nine inches tall and weighing approximately 150 lbs.

Negro politicians get LBJ invitations

WASHINGTON (NPI)—The National Medical Association's newly created Council on Talent Recruitment held a one-day conference recently with top officials of the U.S. Office of Education in Washington, D.C. on ways to implement the Association's program to recruit more talented Negro youths to careers in medicine and public health.

Dr. Edward W. Brice, Director of the Adult Education Branch of the Office of Education, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, was host to the conference.

Dr. Edward S. Cooper, of Philadelphia, Pa., is Chairman of the NMA Council on Talent Recruitment. The Council is composed of fifteen members widely dispersed throughout the country.

The recruitment program was promulgated by NMA president, Dr. William Montague Cobb at the association's 69th, annual convention last August in Washington, D.C., when he pointed out that the Negro population represented the largest untapped talent pool and that the NMA was particularly fitted to discover and motivate gifted youngsters at all educational levels, from elementary school through college.

Speaking of the recent conference, Dr. Cobb said one of the principal targets would be the gifted underprivileged youth who might otherwise fail to receive sufficient motivation, and that the barrier of low economic status to development of the talented was recognized as a major problem.

To assist in this problem, Dr. Cobb recommended to the NMA convention in August the establishment of a Council on Financial Aid to locate sources of funds for the support of youths when discovered with high aptitude and good character but lacking in funds. Such a council was approved at the 1964 convention and Dr. Asa G. Yancey of Atlanta, Georgia, was named chairman.

Alleged slayer claims victim 'tricked' him

Dressed in woman's clothing and wearing a wig, a 20-year-old youth was fatally stabbed Christmas morning in an Eastside apartment he shared with another man.

Police called to the scene at first thought the victim to be a woman. He was strangled in a girdle, a padded bra, nylon stockings and high heel shoes.

Listed as dead-on-arrival at Marion County General Hospital was Freddie Jordan, Jr., 2029 N. College. He had been stabbed under the right arm.

Arrested the next day in the 2206 block of North College in connection with the stabbing was 22-year-old Raymond Craig, 2005 Ruckel, who, police say, has admitted wielding the murder weapon.

From information supplied by Craig, officers a half-hour later picked up Joe Larry Long, 21, 3434 Schofield. Long admitted being with Craig at the time of the slaying. Both men are being held on a preliminary charge of murder.

Jordan's roommate, James Lee Green, 19, told investigators officers that he, Jordan and another youth known to him as "Peaches" were in the apartment alone around 1 a.m. Christmas morning when Craig and Long came knocked on the door and after being admitted began to argue with the victim about some remark Jordan was alleged to have made to his (Craig's) girlfriend.

Both of them began to beat Jordan and "Peaches" ran out of the apartment to phone for police," Lieut. Spurgeon Davenport quoted Green as saying. "After 'Peaches' failed to return, I ran out of the building to see if he was calling the police," Green continued.

"I saw him in the phone booth so I turned and ran back to the building. As I started down the hall Craig and the other man (later identified as Long) passed me running down the hall," Green told the detectives.

Green said Craig was still carrying the bloody knife in hand, according to police.

After his arrest, police said, Craig denied arguing with the dead youth over a woman.

He told the detectives assigned to the case that Craig, dressed like a woman, had propositioned him in the street and that he had given him $10 to have relations with him—believing that Jordan was a woman," Davenport told The Recorder.

"He said that when they arrived at the apartment and he discovered that Jordan was actually a man he demanded

Seeks refuge in Chicago after ouster

CHICAGO — A militant 50-year-old Roman Catholic priest has begun a self-imposed exile in protest of discriminatory practices in California.

Upon his arrival Monday in Chicago, The Rev. John V. Coffield stated his protest is leveled at California's repeal of fair housing laws and stern orders from an Archbishop to keep "mum" on racial injustices.

In contract to Los Angeles chancery office statements that Coffield is under no formal punishment, the priest said James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, the city's Archbishop, took a dim view of statements he made against "scandalous" racial situations.

HE SAID that in June he was ordered to take a five-month "enforced vacation" because he took a stand against Proposition 13 which repealed open occupancy laws in California during the recent election.

"It would be extremely bad taste for a priest to publicly disagree with his Cardinal, except that the position of Negroes in Los Angeles is so scandalous that I stand by the statement I made there," the priest declared upon arrival here.

Continuing, he said, "On Nov. 14, I was ordered to maintain a silence on racism. I choose instead a self-imposed exile from the diocese as a gesture of protest against, and rather than be a part of the continuing evil of silence."

Rather than abide by Archbishop McIntyre's ban on "race talk," Coffield said he requested and was granted permission a week to leave Los Angeles and study at the University of Chicago.

Msgr. Francis W. Byrne, chancellor of the Chicago Archdiocese, said that as long as Coffield retains McIntyre's permission to be absent from the Los Angeles Archdiocese, he will be welcome to the Chicago Archdiocese.

Those close to the "exiled" priest say they believe he wished to combine graduate study here with parttime work for the Inter-American Co-Operative Institute, a church organization supporting training programs in Latin America.

Taylor Baker appointed City Prosecutor

Mayor John J. Barton announced Wednesday the appointment of Atty. Taylor L. Baker, 2243 N. Harding, as City Prosecutor of Indianapolis, effective Jan. 1.

Taylor, a graduate of the Indiana University School of Law, fills a vacancy created by former prosecutor John McCann, who recently accepted the post of City Attorney.

The new appointee has served as deputy city prosecutor since February, 1964. He has also served as bailiff in Superior Court 2 under former Judge Mercer M. Mance, and has been employed by the Indiana Department of Revenue.

The 28-year-old lawyer is a graduate of Crispus Attucks High School and Moorehouse College, Atlanta, Ga. He is a member of Barnes Methodist Church.

He is married and the father of one son.

AFNB branch at 30th and Clifton hit by bandit

A lone bandit held up the American Fletcher National Bank branch at 30th and Clifton early Wednesday afternoon and escaped with an undetermined amount of money.

The bandit was described as Negro, wearing a white coat and goatee. He entered the bank, pulled a pistol and ordered that the money be stuffed into a paper bag he was carrying.

He had not been apprehended at Recorder press time.

Urge creation of interracial towns

WASHINGTON (NPI)—The Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions has urged the federal government to create industrial, interracial "new towns" in suburban areas.

The group said that the government should also clear industrial slums in the center city and build moderate income housing in its place.

BERNARD WEISSBOURD, author of the study, said the result would be to diminish urban sprawl and revitalize the nation's cities.

The study, entitled "Segregation, Subsidies and Megalopolis," charged that present VA and FHA mortgage programs have helped create new slums into which large portions of the population have been displaced.

The report said that the flight of middle income families to the suburbs and the influx of non-whites into the metropolitan centers has left the cities with a massive problem.

IN HIS REPORT, Weissbord said: "I am suggesting a different kind of new town program. We should attempt to create new towns pursuant to regional open space and transportation plans."

He said the planned communities should contain middle-class whites as well as low income Negroes, adding that the plan would be unworkable without the element of integration.

Will H. Porter, retired lawyer, succumbs at 91

Retired Atty. Will H. Porter, who received special citations from two Presidents, died Christmas Day at his home, 742 N. California. Death came to the colorful Westsider at the age of 91.

Rites were conducted Dec. 30 at Bethel AME Church, with burial in Crown Hill Cemetery. Mr. Porter was a trustee emeritus of Bethel AME where he held the distinction of having served on every board of the church.

He was a dedicated member of Central Lodge, F & AM for more than 50 years and served as master of the lodge and district deputy Grand Master of Prince Hall Grand Lodge of the State of Indiana.

He was also active in the Scottish Rite and a 33rd Degree Mason.

Mr. Porter was awarded a certificate of appreciation by President Franklin Roosevelt for services rendered the country through the Selective Service System and later another citation from President Harry Truman. Congress during World War II cited him with a Selective Service Medal.

A 1937 graduate of LaSalle University's Extension Law School in Chicago, he worked 38 years as a scheme examiner for the Post Office. Born in Paris, Ky., he lived here 84 years.

Scottish Rite services were conducted Dec. 29 at the Masonic Hall, 853 N. West.

A son, Will H. Porter Jr., Washington, D.C. survives.

Atty. T. R. Wilson named assistant attorney general

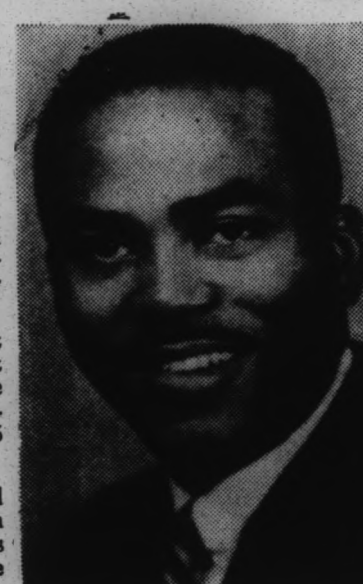

Atty. Theodore H. Wilson, a hearing judge for the Indiana Department of Revenue, has been named assistant attorney general, it was announced this week by Democrat Attorney General-elect John J. Dillon.

The appointment places Wilson, legal consultant and attorney for the state Civil Rights Commission until September, 1963, in the number three position in the office.

At his new post, the highest a Negro has ever held in that branch of state government, he will be directing and supervising the activities of about 45 deputy attorney generals.

Atty. Wilson, who was named to The Recorder's 1964 Human Relations Honor Roll for his work in civil rights on the state level, is a graduate of Wilberforce University and received his law degree from the Indiana University School of Law.

While at Indiana, he completed requirements for a masters degree in public administration. A native of Fairfield, Ala., he wrote the 1963 Indiana Civil Rights Act and the Governor's Executive Order 463 banning discrimination in places of public accommodation licensed by, and under supervision of, state government.

He joined the Rights Commission in September of 1961 and retired to private practice two years later. He wrote the rules and regulations of the commission.

He is a member of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, where he is youth sponsor, a Sunday School teacher and finance chairman of the Men's Day Committee.

A member of the law firm of Crowder, Wilson and Baker (241 E. Ohio, Suite 506-08), Atty. Wilson has served as chairman of the law enforcement committee of the Indianapolis Human Relations Council. He is presently legislative chairman of the Indiana Committee for the Abolition of Capital Punishment and defense counsel for the local chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality.

He is a member of the board of directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Butler-Tarkington Neighborhood Association.

He is married to the former Miss Mammie Louise Thompson, who is a psychologist with the State Department of Correction. They have one son, Ted Jr., 3, and reside at 133 Buckingham Drive.

204 Negroes were elected to high offices in 1964

The Democratic sweep for President Lyndon B. Johnson on November 3 carried an unprecedented number of Negroes into public office on the national, state and local level.

There are now 280 Negroes in elective positions in 33 states, all of whom are Democrats but ten, according to a study completed this week by the Democratic National Committee.

Negroes gained 33 seats in state legislatures bringing the total to 90 of whom 88 are Democrats and two are Republicans.

The sixth Negro was elected to the United States House of Representatives, John Conyers, Jr. of Detroit, Michigan. He joins the five Negro Democratic Congressmen who were re-elected Representatives William L. Dawson of Chicago, Robert N. C. Nix of Philadelphia, Augustus Hawkins of Los Angeles, Adam Clayton Powell of New York City and Charles C. Diggs of Detroit.

Besides the Congress and State Legislatures, an additional twenty-seven Negroes were elected to state and municipal political posts. Included among these are two Negro physicians who were elected coroners in Indiana, Dr. Alexander Williams of Gary and Dr. Robert C. Collins of Indianapolis.

According to an analysis of election returns, Negroes hold elective positions, either state or local, in 33 of the 50 states. Southern Negroes running for elective office made dramatic gains in Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Texas and Oklahoma. In Alabama, two justices of the peace in Macon County were elected, William Allen and William Childs. Reverend V. A. Edwards of Tuskegee Institute was elected to the Macon County Board of Revenue and Dr. Charles Gomillion of Tuskegee Institute was elected a member of the Macon County Board of Education.

In Georgia, Attorney Horace T. Ward of Atlanta was elected to the State Senate and joins State Senator Leroy Johnson who was re-elected. In Tennessee, Attorney A. W. Willis of Memphis, became the first Negro since Reconstruction to be elected to the State Legislature. In Texas, Attorney Asberry Butler of Houston, was elected to the School Board joining an incumbent Negro, Mrs. Hattie Mae White. In Oklahoma, four Negroes were elected to the State Legislature for the first time in our history, three in the Lower House, Archibald Hill of Oklahoma City, John White of Oklahoma City and Curtis Lawson of Tulsa. E. Melvin Porter of Oklahoma City was elected to the Oklahoma State Senate.

Negro women played a conspicuous role in the election and many of them won important elective positions. Mrs. Willie Stevens Ganton of Des Moines, wife of Judge Luther Ganton, was elected to the Iowa State Legislature. Mrs. Daisy Lloyd of Indianapolis was elected to the Indiana Legislature and Mrs. Josephine M. Sneed of Chicago was elected a Cook County Commissioner. Mrs. Rosetta Ferguson of Detroit was elected to the Michigan Legislature. Mrs. Constance Baker Motley was re-elected to the New York State Senate. Altogether 28 Negro women hold elective offices, twelve in state legislatures, and all are Democrats.

Mrs. Pritchett dies in Calif., buried here

MRS. ELDORA PRITCHETT
Mrs. Eldora Pritchett, a lifelong resident of Indianapolis, died Dec. 17 in San Francisco, Calif. She had been in California with her son since November of 1963.

Funeral services were conducted here Dec. 24 at Trinity CME Church.

Before moving to California, Mrs. Pritchett was employed at RCA and worked there approximately 18 years. She was a loyal, devoted and active member of Trinity CME Church and served as Sunday School teacher and a senior choir member.

She was also active in civic work, having been a member of the Eastside Better Business and Civic League, a staff member of the Fox Printing Company and a life member of the NAACP.

Upon arrival in California, she immediately joined a CME Church and continued her religious work by becoming the church secretary and president of the Business and Professional Women's Club. She also served as an interviewer for the local chapter of the NAACP.

Survivors include a son, Maurice Pritchett, San Francisco; mother, Mrs. Dora Posey; a sister, Mrs. Thelma Brown and a brother, George Posey, all of Indianapolis.

Jewish leader says 'white backlash' is spreading

WASHINGTON (NPI) — A Jewish leader has predicted that the so-called white backlash which lost several Deep South states for the Democrats in the presidential elections, will spread to the North.

Morris B. Abram, president, American Jewish Committee, said that white resentment against Negro protests would have a "profound effect" on northern communities.

Abram, a constitutional lawyer, said that the North has no reason to rejoice. "It will move North," he predicted. "There is every reason to fear that the polarization of the South will be repeated in the North—in the neighborhoods of New York—if decent leadership does not move positively to head it off."

"The facts are that the demonstrations will resume. The thrust of the Negro for absolute equality will not diminish, but grow. The question is not to stop this thrust, but to achieve justified objectives."

Emma W. Hyde

Mrs. Emma Woods Hyde, 71, 974 Hosbrook, died Christmas Day at her home. Rites were conducted Dec. 29 at Mt. Pilgrim Baptist Church, with burial in New Crown Cemetery.

Mrs. Hyde, a native of Auburn, Ky., had resided here for 48 years. She had been employed as a maid at the Ambassador Hotel for 27 years, retiring in 1955.

She was a member of the Mt. Pilgrim Baptist Church where she organized the senior choir. She was also a member of the Southside Circle of the Missionary of her church.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Coyle; four grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Dr. King, Farmer plan African good will tour

WASHINGTON (NPI)—Efforts to strengthen the bonds between American Negroes and the African nations, will be given a boost with "personal diplomacy" by Dr. Martin Luther King, and James Farmer, early next year.

As members of the American Negro Leadership Conference on Africa, both men will tour Africa to acquaint themselves with its social, economic and political problems.

FARMER, CORE national president, and one of the founders of the Leadership Conference, will leave Jan. 3, for a three-week tour of East, West and Central Africa. Dr. King, 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner, and also a founder of the Conference, will visit Africa as soon as his schedule permits.

Conference director Theodore Brown, said that visits to Africa are also planned by Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive director, and Mrs. Dorothy Height, National Council of Negro Women.

Brown also announced that Atty. Belford Lawson, and Dr. Edward Mazique will nations.

spearhead a group of 50 Washingtonians to mobilize local support for the Conference program. Similar efforts are planned for other major cities. Early next year, Brown said, leaders of National Negro organizations will be invited to a one-day conference in Washington to make the Leadership Conference a permanent organization.

Last fall, the Leadership Conference adopted a 20-page resolution which included the withdrawal of the United States from all military commitments in the Congo until such aid can be given "in concert with the African governments represented in the Organization of African Unity."

Other resolutions included the use of more Negroes as ambassadors assigned to nations other than those in Africa, the condemnation of South African apartheid, endorsement of U.S. aid to African nations, and a re-appraisal of U.S. policy toward the problems of political stability in emerging African nations.

his $10 back and Jordan refused to return his money. "An argument followed, and Craig said he was trying to take his money back when Jordan pulled a straight razor," the veteran detective related.

"Craig claims he stabbed Jordan after Jordan pulled the razor because he was afraid for his own life," Davenport added. Police did find an unopened straight razor near Jordan's body.

However, Davenport said he was inclined to discredit Craig's story because of several factors.

"From what we've learned, Craig evidently knew Jordan and his roommate (the roommate supplied police with Craig's name), therefore he could not have been fooled into believing that Jordan was a woman."

"And," Davenport continued, "Jordan enjoys a reputation as somewhat of a knife-man in that neighborhood."

Davenport did say that an effort was being made to locate "Peaches" to see if he could substantiate either of the two accounts of the slaying.

White Atlantic school yields to desegregation demands

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Atlanta school board will transfer Negro pupils next January to an all-white school which has been the center of integrationist controversy since August.

The Kirkwood School, which has a present enrollment of 422 white students, was the object of picketing by Negro parents and civil rights leaders last fall.

THE SCHOOL, located in northeast Atlanta, is said to have empty classrooms, while two nearby Negro schools are crowded beyond capacity.

One civil rights leader was arrested during demonstrations at Kirkwood on the opening day of classes.

The decision to admit Negroes to the school was made by Supt. John Letson, with the knowledge and approval of the board of education.

"We've had to face up to the realities of the situation," said Oby Brewer, Jr., president of the board. "Our problem is to get some additional space for these Negro children and to give the white children a chance to make a choice."

One of the main reasons for the decision is that Kirkwood has shown a sharp decrease in student enrollment this fall, having lost some 300 pupils.

School officials had refused to integrate the school because it would not be affected by the city's grade-a-year desegregation plan until the fall of 1965.

HOWEVER, it was pointed out that the board of education faces another federal court hearing in February, and the move toward integration may stand the board in good stead.

"We're doing what in our best judgment must be done," Brewer said. He announced that a letter will be sent to the parents of Kirkwood's white pupils.

"This action is not one that the school itself takes, but the community took it," Letson said.

"People have moved out and are moving out. We cannot continue with an empty school. We are continuing to lose students. In order to utilize the space that we have, there's no alternative," the superintendent added.

Suit filed to integrate TB hospitals in Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — A suit seeking to end racial segregation in the State Tuberculosis sanatoriums and hospitals was filed in Federal court here today by attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund.

It is the first suit to integrate all of the hospitals under the jurisdiction of a state agency.

Legal Defense Fund lawyers are currently engaged in eleven other courts to desegregate the facilities in individual hospitals throughout the South. The action today represents the first attempt to bring statewide equality in Florida health facilities.

Hospitals are not covered by the provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, but the Legal Defense Fund has already won several important related cases.

These hold that public hospitals receiving governmental money and licensed and regulated by state authorities must operate on a desegregated basis. In the complaint to the Federal District Court, Legal Defense Fund lawyers point out that the tuberculosis hospitals are tax exempt and are licensed by the state of Florida.

In addition, these hospitals have received over $2,000,000 in Federal funds under the "Hill-Burton" program, they point out.

On behalf of seven Negroes who are or have been patients at the TB hospitals, the Legal Defense Fund is asking the Court to order the end of segregated wards and treatment areas.

In a related action, the Legal Defense Fund filed suit in Jacksonville to desegregate the facilities of the Suwannee County Hospital, a public institution that has received considerable Federal money.

Earl M. Johnson of Jacksonville and Tobias Simon of Miami, Florida, cooperating attorneys of the Legal Defense Fund, were joined in bringing the suits by Jack Greenberg, Constance Baker Motley, and Leroy D. Clark, all of the Legal Defense Fund's New York City headquarters.

Meriwether twins make social bow in ball at Walker Casino

Amidst a fantasy of tiny twinkling Italian lights against a rose flowered and green net covered screen and tea table decorations of pink and green, the charming and lovely Miss Norma Christine and Miss Sandra Darlene Meriwether were formally presented to society at an elegant ball given by their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Sirdastion D. Meriwether.

The gala affair was held in the beautiful Walker Casino Wednesday night, December 23. A receiving line which formed in front of the screen line was trimmed with rhinestones. The sparkling tiaras which the debutantes wore were gifts from Dr. and Mrs. E. Paul Thomas. Each young lady carried an arm bouquet of red roses, which were gifts of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Pritchett.

Tables surrounding the walls of the beautifully mirrored casino were prettily decorated with white cloths, green candles, pink streamers, and balsam, gifts of Dr. and Mrs. Roy D. Clinthorne.

The opening waltz was led by junior hostesses were the Misses Marie Ballanger, A'Leila Bundles, Cheryl Ann Flack, Shelley Lloyd, Karen Lunsford, and Anita Spurlock passed out favors of balsam sprigs tied with red satin ribbons.

Ushers for the gala ball were Messrs. Luther Hall Jr., William D. Mackey Jr., Donald Payne, Ronald Payne, Robert Rice, Louis Simpson Jr., Albert Spurlock, and Paul Thomas. Pages were Masters James David Lewis and James Moore. Many lovely floral arrangements, bouquets and corsages

containing myriads of the clear lights welcomed the many guests. Those standing in the receiving line were Mrs. Sirdastion D. Meriwether, Miss Norma Christine and Miss Sandra Darlene Meriwether, Dr. Sirdastion D. Meriwether, Mrs. John T. Flack, John T. Flack, Mrs. Oscar Ballanger Sr., Mrs. Allee Granberry, Mrs. Lucian B. Meriwether, Dr. Lucian B. Meriwether, Miss Norma and Miss Marcia Washington, Miss Ann Randall, Miss Loretta Orton and Miss Lucia Robinson.

The Misses Meriwether, who are twins, were look alikes in lively floor length white satin gowns trimmed in tiny seed pearls. Poured shirred bustles attached to a wide panel accented the backs of the gowns.

Mrs. Sirdastion D. Meriwether wore an attractive floor length pink satin gown. It featured a bell skirt and the bateau neck-

Dr. Sirdastion D. Meriwether and daughter Christine. Dr. Lucian B. Meriwether, uncle, was proxy and waited with Darlene. The debutantes were then claimed by their escorts, Messrs. Emmett Lunsford Jr., son of Senator and Mrs. Robert L. Lunsford, and Messrs. Julian Gooch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gooch. The escorts like the father and uncle of the debs were in full dress.

Mrs. Roy D. Clinthorne was coordinator, assisted by Mrs. E. Paul Thomas. Senior hostesses were Mrs. Frank Chowning, Charleston B. Cox, Emmett Lunsford, William D. Mackey, William Relford, Donald G. Russell, Augustine Murchi, William Woodward and Bernard Pritchett.

The Misses Meriwether who received with the debutantes were Misses Loretta Orton, Ann Randall, Lucia Robinson, Marcia and Norma Washington. Other were received by the pretty debutantes. Others sending flowers were Dr. and Mrs. Lehman D. Adams, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Homer Wales, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Ferguson of Richmond, Ky., and Mrs. Robert L. Brockenbush, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker, Mr. and Mrs. William Garrett, and Mr. and Mrs. William T. Ray.

Also sending flowers were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Allen, Mrs. Jeanette Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Elston Benedict, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hall, Mrs. Dorothy Whiteside, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Castleman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitney, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur R. Olden.

The Misses Meriwether also received a multitude of lovely gifts and telegrams from many well-wishers. A congratulatory letter telegram was received from Dr. and Mrs. Louis T. Maxey and son, Louis Allen, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Music for the memorable evening was furnished by the famous Larry Liggett and his orchestra.

Among the many out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Edward G. High, Misses Yolanda, Sandra and Wanda High, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. John Mundy, Miss Rosemary Mundy, Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Booker Guice, Miss Cecilia R. Brown, Maywood, Ill.; Mrs. Allee Granberry, Miss Verdell Guice, Chicago; Mrs. Oscar Ballanger Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ballanger Jr., and daughter, Marie, Chicago Heights, Ill.

Also attending were Miss Marcia and Miss Norma Washington, Youngstown, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meriwether, Terre Haute; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flack and daughter, Cheryl Ann, Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. A. Del Dalton, Lexington, Ky., and Anthony French, Hempstead, Long Island.

F. A. C. party called 'the greatest ever'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is Mrs. Lulah Hodge's impression of the Federation of Associated Clubs' annual Christmas party.

This elaborate affair was held in our beautiful Aron Room on Monday, December 21, from 7 to 10 p.m. We must say that it was one of the grandest gatherings that has ever been held in our Club Home. The attendance was far beyond our expectation, almost an overflow, and our long serving table was heavily laden with a variety of foods too numerous to mention.

After each person had served himself and was seated at the tables, you can't imagine a more socializing and breaking bread together.

The food was delicious. Mrs. Ethel Rayan, chairman of the Activities Committee, and her very fine and most efficient co-chairman, Mrs. Bessie James, were in full charge of the food, and they certainly did a good job. They not only had good food but the very choicest.

After everyone had dined sufficiently, Mrs. Laura Terry, and Mrs. L. Newsom had charge of some very interesting games that the young and older people enjoyed alike. In fact, everyone present could be classified as young folks, from the way they were playing those games.

The ladies in charge really made everyone feel the spirit of Christmas. Everyone was having such a grand time, not realizing the hour was growing late until they were reminded by F.A.C. President Starling James.

At this point, Mrs. Roberts Wiggins came forward and presented the gifts to all members and to their guests. The board members are to be congratulated for having really surprised our president and wife with a beautiful gift. Mrs. Lillian Goens, Mrs. Margaret Reid, and Mrs. Marie Garner made the selection and Mrs. Goens made the presentation.

Mrs. James gave a brief but a very timely acceptance speech. Mr. James followed with a response of deep gratitude to the Board of Directors, not only for the gift, but for their thoughtfulness.

We were reminded of one of the poems of Paul Lawrence Dunbar — quote: "Who was there, now who are you asking," unquote. You just should have been there and seen for yourself. Every club in the Federation was invited and they all came. The ladies all were dressed in their silks and satins and the men in their party attire.

Those of you who failed to attend really missed a treat of a lifetime, for we really and truly had one grand and glorious time.

Nurse enjoys holiday with parents

NEW BURG—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barnett had as their holiday guest their daughter, Miss Anna Barnett of Indianapolis. Miss Barnett left Christmas night by plane to resume her duties as registered nurse at Coleman Hospital, Indiana University Medical Center, in Indianapolis.

Her parents were hosts to members and friends of their family at an elaborate holiday dinner Christmas Eve in their attractive home.

Enjoying the holiday hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rankins, Miss Sharon Rankins, Michael Rankins, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Moore and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mister West, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barnett, and Miss Catherine Carol Barnett.

Clarence Barnett left Sunday, December 27, for Pasadena, Calif., to spend the rest of the holidays with his sons and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Barnett, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Barnett.

'Roses in the Snow' is theme for 13 Hearts ball

The charming members of the popular Thirteen Hearts Club were delightful hostesses at their fabulous holiday formal Saturday evening in the Marble Room of the Marrott Hotel.

Their theme was "Roses in the Snow", which was uniquely carried out in their decorations. In the background was a huge red heart made of red roses. The tables were decorated with silver trees trimmed with red rose buds and each hostess' table was identified by a glittering lady made of hearts.

The lovely hostesses were beautifully gowned in long, white formal, each wearing a wristlet designed with a red satin covered heart centered

Mrs. Bartlett hosts seasonal party for club

Mrs. Fannie Bartlett's colorfully decorated home at 921 W. 27th was filled with friends and members of the Old Settlers Social and Civic Club during its joyous Christmas party Tuesday afternoon, December 22.

Everyone joined in the Christmas carol singing and Mrs. Helen Minor told the Christmas story. Turkey and all the trimmings was enjoyed after the program and the gifts beneath a brightly lit tree were distributed by Mrs. Lulu Hodge and Mrs. Effie LeMonde.

Mrs. Bessie Youree is Old Settlers Club president.

Mental Health program to get dinner proceeds

Funds to purchase directly needed equipment and facilities will benefit from the Mental Health Legislative Biennial Dinner to be held Thursday, January 14, 6:30 p.m., in Murat Temple's Egyptian Room.

Proceeds from tickets will be used to strengthen the state's lagging program to combat mental health. Officials explain that there is a tragic waiting list of over 1,400 for schools for the retarded.

The state has no funds for the construction of psychiatric treatment centers for mentally ill children. Central State Hospital has quite a few of these children who have had no teaching and preparation for life.

Reservations for the benefit dinner may be obtained by phoning ME 4-4311, Ext. 43. Mrs. Mattie Leons is among staff workers.

Music pupils climax year with recital

The piano and vocal students of Mrs. V. W. Slaughter Home Studio, 2314 N. Capitol, climaxed the year's activities with a festive Christmas party Monday, December 28, in the gaily decorated studio.

Miss Patricia Campbell tape recorded the delightful musical program which was presented by the students. Those participating and their selections were: Kevin Varnado, Joy to the World; Sherry Mills, Silent Night; Prayer; Sheila Kay Butler, The Birthday Cake; The Popcorn Man; Deborah James, The Sunflower Song; The Canoe; and Patricia Stokely, The Spider Dance.

Also Bonita Butler, 1812 Overture; Sandra Bentley, Fur Elise; Sandra Bentley and Bonita Butler, a piano duet; Ave Maria; Anita James, a solo; My Heavenly Father Watches Over Me; Ronella Bradbury, a solo; God So Loved The World; and Diane Moten, a solo. The Voice in the Wilderness.

Mrs. Rebecca Biekman took pictures of the students. Mrs. Rosebell James assisted with the refreshments. Also assisting were Mmes. William Varnado and Ruth Butler. Mrs. V. W. Slaughter is instructor.

Chatting with FAC

By ELSA JACKSON

Starling W. James, FAC president, and his wife, Mrs. Bessie James, express the hope that all of you enjoy a happy and prosperous new year and trust that all of your undertakings will be successful.

They hope also that you receive the answers to all your prayers and the fulfillment of all your dreams during this new year, 1965.

Spanish play presented at School 26

A unique Christmas production, "Las Podadas," was presented Wednesday, December 16 at School 26.

Participants were members of the school's two Spanish classes instructed by Mrs. Betty Chisley, a fifth grade teacher. The past summer was spent by Mrs. Chisley studying Spanish under a grant at Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, Mich.

This proved to be quite an interesting and informative experience since she lived in a house with 73 other students where only Spanish was spoken. No English was allowed.

During the program, students sang Christmas carols in Spanish. "Las Podadas" is the name given the traditional way of celebrating Christmas in the villages and homes of Mexico. It represents the several times at which Joseph begged shelter for Mary.

Beginning December 16, the villagers dramatize the search for shelter. Each evening of the nine nights before Christmas with a couple dressed as Joseph and Mary, they march in a procession from house to house asking for shelter.

Finally, they are admitted to the ninth house. After a brief religious celebration a gay festa is held.

The impressive imitation of Spanish dancers by the students and the general performance was superb and reflective of Mrs. Chisley's creditable teaching.

Voice of the Eastside

By MARY P. MCGUIRE

"The road to peace and freedom are inseparable Congo and Mississippi, white and black realize that peace can be found only when there is understanding. If we must have peace, we must pave the road."

These very timely remarks were made by Atty. Frank R. Beckwith during morning services the past Sunday at Bible Way Baptist Church. Let us do everything possible for peace.

As guest of Mrs. Edye Edmonds, a neighbor, I enjoyed a lovely pre-Christmas dinner Tuesday evening, December 22, at Good Samaritan Baptist Church of which Dr. J. T. Highbaugh is pastor.

The Sisters of Help were in charge with Mrs. Mary Thompson, 30-year president, presiding during the gift exchange assisted by Miss Linda Rogers, a Shortridge High School student.

Too much cannot be said about P. D. Thompson who kept all plates well filled, not mentioning his very fine committee, Mmes. Fannie Wilson, Bertha Haynes and Tommy Hallam.

Guests included Messrs. and Mmes. Marshall Pendegraph, Margaret Boyd, Jessie L. Robinson, Marie Sugg, Susie Hubbard, Misses Ruby McLendon and Linda Sue Adams. Others attending were Miss Susie Peters, a McGuire Letter Shop patron, and Mrs. Regina Jones, daughter of Charlie Square, a neighbor of the ole scrube.

I received a much needed gift from Mrs. Edmonds. I would like to congratulate Dr. Highbaugh for not letting this special event interfere with the prayer services. We all had to clear out by 8 p.m. Thanks to Mrs. Highbaugh for the information on "who's who."

I came home Tuesday night, December 22 and did not get out until Monday, December 28 due to a serious hemorrhage. The hubby, children—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beeler and George Frederick—a pal, Mrs. Viola Mills, and a neighbor, Charlie Squires were the first to answer the call.

For a while, things looked pretty bad for your ole scrube but, God had mercy on her although she thought her Christmas would be spent in the hospital. I was back in the office Monday, December 28.

A thousand thanks for the more than 100 cards coming from throughout Indiana and over 75 from various states of the great old USA including Ohio, Oregon, Washington, Missouri, Kentucky, New Jersey, New York, Mississippi, Arkansas, Ohio, Illinois and Georgia. Words cannot express the gratitude the hubby and I feel.

Dr. J. T. Highbaugh with Rev. F. K. Dillard as chairman called a meeting recently to compile the Baptist's history. I feel highly honored being invited to participate.

The session was at Greater Gethsemane Baptist Church with Mrs. McKinney serving as secretary. Others attending were Rev. C. H. Poole, Elder and Mrs. F. F. Young, Rev. and Mrs. E. T. Johnson and Mrs. Frances Ramsey. Ladies interested in the project will meet Tuesday, January 5 at the McGuire Letter Shop.

All Baptist churches are invited to participate. Other denominations desiring advertising space are welcomed.

Attention eastsiders including all members of the Eastside Baptist Business & Civic League!

On Monday night, January 4 all members and their friends are urged to attend the regular first meeting of the year. Newly-elected officers thus far are Mrs. Priscilla Dean Lewis and Houston Chandler with old officers succeeding themselves. Please come and bring a neighbor.

The ole scrube needs the help of all good citizens—east, west, north and south. Don't wait until you have a problem and then come to the Civic League. Stand up and be counted now! Meetings are held the first Monday of each month at 1315 E. 15th. A capacity crowd should be on hand for each session. Free hot coffee and donuts will be available. Attend regardless of your political affiliation, denomination, race, creed or color.

Several churches have announced plans for watch meetings New Year's Eve. Among those known are Mt. Paran, Bible Way and New Bethel Baptist churches. There is no better place to be when the whistle blows, marking the end of 1964 and the birth of 1965, than church.

May all my fans have a very prosperous New Year!

The Booster's League of Corinthian Baptist Church had as guest speaker the past Sunday night Rev. James Scott, who left an inspiring message. Rev. Stephen Wells, pastor, gave final remarks. Oscar Dycus is the newly elected president.

Couples invited to open conference on adoption

A public meeting open to all who are interested in adoption will be sponsored by the Marion County Inter-Agency Adoption Committee to discuss adoption of children from the viewpoint of adoptive parents, social agencies and community needs.

The meeting will be held Wednesday Jan. 13, 8 p.m. in the ground floor conference room of the English Foundation Building, 615 N. Alabama.

A panel of parents who have adopted children from the Children's Bureau of Indianapolis, Inc., Catholic Charities Bureau, Lutheran Child Welfare Association, and the Marion County Department of Public Welfare will speak of their experiences in adoption.

Miss Mary Louise Eluere, Adoption Supervisor of the Catholic Charities Bureau, will moderate the panel discussion.

CHIT CHAT Club President Mrs. Myrtle Bethel welcomes Mr. and Mrs. Gordon K. Warren to the ladies' annual Christmas party held the past Saturday evening at FAC Hall. Guests enjoyed a delectable feast of turkey with all the trimmings and danced to the sounds of Cleve Bottom's Combo. The Hall bore all the traditional holiday decorations and individual tables were decked with candles and greenery. Mr. and Mrs. Warren were guests of Mrs. Barbara Clint. ## Assembly to vote on delinquent fathers crackdown proposal

Persons delinquent in the payment of support orders, now allegedly an annual item of several million dollars, will receive additional assistance in meeting their payments under a proposed new law sponsored by the Yankee Doodle Civic Foundation.

Under the terms of the bill, there would be created the office of support expediter who would be authorized to receive paychecks directly from the employers, endorse the checks, make the support payments to the county clerk and remit the remainder of the wages to the delinquent father.

The plan was presented recently in a session held by the newly-elected representatives and senators of Marion County.

DRAFTED BY Frank R. Beckwith, foundation president, the bill will be authored and introduced by Senator Patrick E. Chavis, Jr.

It is estimated that as much as one-third of the child support money ordered goes unpaid, from year to year, working a hardship on the divorced mother and the children of broken homes.

Records of the Marion County Department of Public Welfare disclose numerous cases where aid to dependent children is necessary because of the failure of fathers to make their support payments regularly and in proper amounts as ordered.

Under the present procedure, judges are compelled to commit delinquent fathers to jail for contempt of court which many judges are reluctant to do because of possible impairment of the Inauguration.

He also accused officials of giving all the "playing" jobs to white volunteers, while Negro volunteers are paid off with token appointments.

But the Rev. E. Franklin, Jackson, District Democratic National Committee, and chairman of a District liaison committee, said the complaints were illtimed.

"Many committee posts are not filled," he said. "I am sure there will be prominent Negroes on every committee. Dale Miller (Inaugural chairman) is a darned good guy. I've never seen a Texan so concerned with other people."

HOCKADAY, however, puts Rev. Jackson, who is a Negro, at the top of the list of people who are keeping the Negro community out of Inaugural planning.

"Jackson," he said, "is too busy with his other duties, and too anxious to avoid offending anyone, to make a definite stand on the issue." Officials at Inaugural Committee headquarters pointed out that Hobart Taylor Jr., associate counsel to the president, had been named chairman of the Inaugural Ball at the Armory, largest of the four balls set for Jan. 20. A committee spokes man also said that there are a number of Negroes on the paid staff, and that others have volunteered their time. "The committee has no policy in regard to race," he added.

ment of production lines and resultant loss of employment of the guilty bread winner.

OTHER BILLS to be submitted by the foundation through representatives and senators are:

1. One which would authorize and require action by any law enforcement officer when a restraining order is violated. Under the present procedure the police department refuses to step in which results in violence on weekends when the issuing court is not in session to take action.

2. A bill which would place Indianapolis on the councilman ward system, with each voter voting only for the council candidate in his community. This is the system in vogue throughout Indiana and most of the large cities of the country. Under it, Mrs. Louise Reynolds was elected to the Louisville City Council. Nashville, Tenn., has two Negro members of the council and Gary has three.

3. Under another proposal sponsored by the foundation, similar to the councilman ward system, Marion County would be divided into 1 assembly-districts for the purpose of electing state representatives while five others would be elected at large on a county-wide basis.

The foundation has pointed out that under these systems of direct representation the voters would have an opportunity to actually know the candidates for whom they would be asked to vote.

Post-Christmas ceremony unites Lahai J. Sogbandi, Maxine Cornell

St. Paul Baptist Church was the scene of impressive post-Christmas rites Saturday night which united in marriage Miss Maxine Deloris Cornell and Lahai J. Sogbandi.

Rev. C. J. Dailey heard Miss Cornell daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Cornell, and Mr. Sogbandi a native of Sierra Leone, West Africa, repeat marital vows during the 8:30 p.m. double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her uncle Edward Burrus, the beaming bride was a picture of loveliness in a full-length white velvet gown sheath featuring a chapel train. Her waist-length veil was secured by a pearl-seeded crown as she marched atop a white runner carrying a cascade of mums, carnations and roses.

Mrs. Betty Jean White, matron of honor, was attractive in a gown of olive green velvet with contrasting green brocade jacket. A white fur muff, accented by an azalea pink bouquet of carnations roses, and a matching headpiece complimented her attire.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Mary Burrus, Barbara Russell, Helen Johnson and Laura Mays. Clutching fur muffs sparked by moss green bouquets of carnations and roses, they wore azalea pink sheath gowns with jackets.

Little Misses Gwendolyn Hooten and Betty Thomas, flower girls, were angelic in moss green gowns and white headpieces. Master Roscoe Wallace served as ring bearer. Donald Wonnine of Bonthe, Sierra Leone, West Africa, was best man and ushers were Max Gorvie, Jim Hartle, Maurice Burns and Joseph Cornell.

Decorative candelabras and pretty isle bows highlighted by scotch pines and white flowers decked the church's pews. The altar was decked with white bouquets and candelabras and the couple knelt on a bench lined with scotch pines, gladiolas and mums.

Anderson Dailey played appropriate music at the organ and wedding favorites of "I Love You Truly" and "Because" were sung by James Shaw, soloist.

Guests heaped wishes of matrimonial bliss on the couple during the reception which followed at the St. Paul Nursing Home. A three-tiered wedding cake graced the table which was flooded with presents.

Azalea rose bud, moss green bows and three-breast candelabras flanked by flowers sparked the table draped in sparkling white skirts.

Hostesses, identified by their azaleas carnations tied with moss green bows, were the Misses Patricia Russell, Sheila Burrus, Francis Langford and Judy Smith. The bride's mother wore moss green brocade gown and a corsage of azalea carnations.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Joe Rankin of Muncie, Ade Wumi of Nigeria, West Africa, Mr. and Mrs. Whittecotton of Kokomo, and Donald Wonnine, Sierra Leone, West Africa.

The new Mrs. Sogbandi, an Indiana Central College student, is a receptionist at the Indiana Girls School. Her husband is studying at the Indiana University School of Law here in Indianapolis.

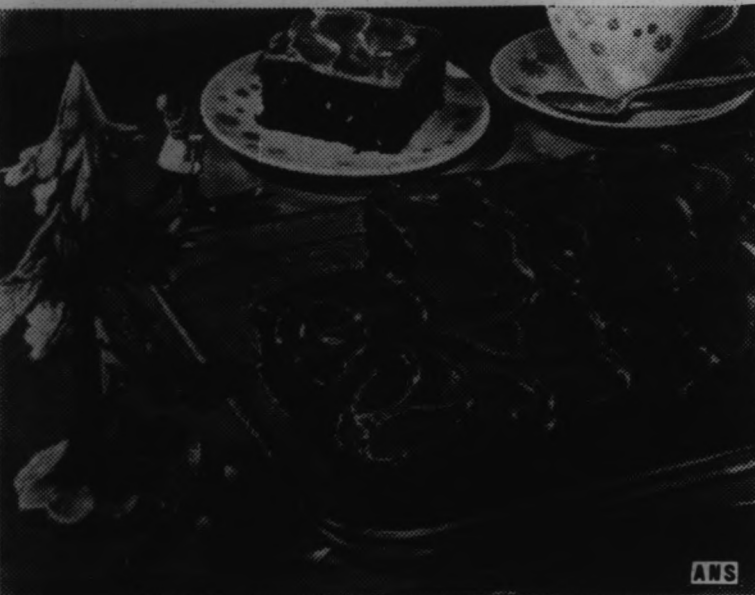

They are at home to friends in the Stonegate Apartments, 1220 N. Illinois.

Floral arrangements and decorations for the wedding were by Vernetta's Flower Shop.

MARITAL vows were said by Miss Maxine Deloris Cornell and Lahai J. Sogbandi during a double ring ceremony Saturday night at St. Paul Baptist Church. ## Pretty coed is contest finalist

PAM McALLISTER
... Wisconsin Beauty

MADISON, Wis. (NPI)—An active, sparkling University of Wisconsin sophomore from Evanston (Ill.) is the first Negro girl to reach the finals in the school's annual "Badger Beauty" contest.

Pam McAllister, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.R. McAllister, earned the honor in competition with about 400 other girls of whom only 15 made the finals.

It all began when Pam and 10 other girls were nominated to be contestants from the dormitory in which she lives, Elizabeth Waters Hall.

Each girl on campus is eligible to be in the contest, and there are about 600 girls living in Waters Hall alone.

Five lucky male students interviewed each of the 400 contestants, rating them on personality traits and appearance. Girls who pass with the highest rating undergo a second interview conducted by three male and one female student and one male instructor.

After the second interview, Pam was still very much in the running, and the competition had been reduced to 39 other hopefuls—all facing a third (and even more frightening) interview.

It is from this group that the 15 finalists were picked, and Pam was one of them. Pictures of the girls were run in the campus newspaper and will appear in the University yearbook.

Pam and the rest of her jubilant group were taken to dinner (lobster or steak) at one of the most fashionable restaurants in Madison, then were interviewed by a group of civic and fashion leaders.

High achievement is nothing new to Pam, who is one of four children in her family. Only last year she was the recipient of a Delta Sigma Theta scholarship.

Evening Drama

HAVE fun this gala holiday season in this sparkling new long dress. The finishing fashion touch is Talon's Zephyr, the new all nylon coil zipper. Flexible and almost as delicate as a seam it gives this slim sheath a smooth line. It puts itself out of a jam with a bend, a zip down and one up. When pressing simply set the iron at synthetic or use a press cloth over the zipper. It's Vogue pattern No. 5707.

THIS intriguing dress is for your most happy hours. The deep V neckline with heavy lace insert gives a demure touch to a sophisticated sheath. Talon's Zephyr is suggested because colors are indelibly dyed into the nylon coil. The ideal zipper for all fabric and especially when cut on the bias as the bodice of this dress because it is incredibly flexible—moulds to and bends with the body without pinching or accidentally slipping. The nylon coil, of course, is pressed with iron set to synthetic or use press cloth. The dress is Modes Royale pattern No. 1858.

KOLACHE

2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg, beaten
About 3 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/4 teaspoon mace
1/3 cup milk
1/4 cup sugar
3/4 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons margarine or butter
1/3 cup warm, not hot, water
2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg, beaten
About 3 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/4 teaspoon mace

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine or butter; cool to lukewarm. Measure water into large bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm water for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, egg, and 1 1/2 cups flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in lemon rind, mace and remaining flour to make soft dough. Turn out on floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top of dough. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/4 hours. Punch down; turn out on lightly floured board. Shape into roll 12 inches long. Cut into 12 equal pieces. Form each into smooth ball. Place on greased baking sheet 2 inches apart. Flatten slightly. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 3/4 hour. Press down center on each ball with fingers, leaving 1/4-inch rim. Fill center with preserves. Bake at 375° F. about 30 minutes. If desired, frost, when cool, with confectioners' sugar icing. Makes 12.

Plans for '65 Cheatham is discussed by Kolonie Klub

A bit of holiday merriment was shared by Kolonie Klub members during their annual party in the home of Mrs. Russell Brown.

Members reminisced over their recent dance at the Walker Casino and discussed ways of improving it next year. Present activities included preparing and delivering holiday baskets to needy families.

Future plans made by the lovely ladies envisioned for the new year include a travelogue, a theater party and family parties.

Cheatham is lodge master

S. H. Cheatham, active in Masonic lodge affairs on the community and state levels longer than 30 years, was elected Worshipful Master of Fidelity Lodge, No. 55, for the year of 1965. Mr. Cheatham has been secretary of his lodge 20 years. He is a member of Constantine Consistory, No. 25 Scottish Rite Masons, Persian Temple, No. 46 (Shriners), and a 32-degree Mason. He defeated Roscoe McKenzie another popular member of his lodge.

Other officers elected were James Pipes, Senior Warden; Nathaniel Scott, Junior Warden; Oliver Duncan, secretary, and Rozell Cheatham, treasurer. Installation ceremonies for the 1965 officers were held in Prince Hall Temple, 653 N. West, Thursday, December 17.

The first meeting of the new year will be held in the lodge hall, 143 W. 40th, Tuesday, January 12. A get acquainted banquet will be held in the lodge hall, Saturday, January 30. Information may be obtained by calling Henry Keene, FL. 6-6906.

Lou Brock goes to bat for Humble Oil

LOU BROCK
Batting for Humble Oil

CHICAGO—Fan who cheered Lou Brock in the World Series may not recognize him as easily in his other role of oil man. He is an employee in Chicago of the Humble Oil and Refining Company, the nation's largest oil refiner and marketer.

The trade that sent Lou from Chicago and the Cubs to St. Louis last June was one of the luckiest things that ever happened for the Cards as they won the National League pennant in one of the closest finishes in League history and went on to become World champions, defeating the Yankees in seven games in the Series.

Lou hit for a .349 average after the trade and finished the season as one of the League's top ten batters with a final .315 average in 52 games for the Cubs and 103 games with St. Louis.

In the World Series, Lou collected a total of nine hits off Yankee pitchers, including one home run. He had 200 hits during the regular season and was second only to fleet Maury Wills of the Los Angeles Dodgers in stolen bases.

Experts consider Lou to be one of the fastest and best baserunners in the National League has seen for years. This was his third season in Major League baseball and it was his best year by far. Lou also played baseball while attending Southern University at Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

With Humble Oil, chief U.S. affiliate of Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), Lou is a representative of the company's heating oil sales department in Chicago, a metropolitan area which is one of the largest fuel-oil consuming centers in the nation.

He joined Humble when he finished the 1963 baseball season for the Cubs. Lou and his wife, with their two children, Wanda, two and one-half years old, and Lou, Jr., six months, continue to make their home in Chicago.

Ron Coleman top star in Utah's Liberty Bowl win

ATLANTIC CITY (NPI) — They should have called the Liberty Bowl the Ron Coleman Bowl this year.

Coleman, a product of the San Francisco school system, led his Utah teammates to a crushing 32-6 win over West Virginia in the annual classic, played indoors in Convention Hall.

The 5-8, 172-pound Utah senior stole the show. He traveled 53 yards in a sparkling display of running skill to give Utah a 19-0 lead at halftime. He picked up 154 yards in 15 tries.

While a crowd of 6,059 watched the nationally televised game, the Utah team lost little time showing its superiority. Of the six times it has the ball in the first half, the Utah squad drove 45 yards and 77 yards for touchdowns, and kicked two field goals.

West Virginia, the Southern Conference champions, amassed only 12 first downs to Utah's 25, and picked up 228 yards on total offense, while Utah gained 53 yards on total offense, while Utah gained 466 yards.

Coleman's high school coach said the 53-yard run "reminded me of the ones he made for us two years ago. I'd say off this performance, he might be given a shot at the pros."

Another Middleweight title for Sugar Ray?

PHILADELPHIA (NPI) — Former champion Sugar Ray Robinson may get another shot at the middleweight boxing championship, held by Joey Giardello.

The champ said that Dick Tiger, from whom he won the championship a year ago, and Sugar Ray are among the possible challengers, but that he might have several tune-up fights before his next defense.

Cassius Clay's father charged with assault

LOUISVILLE (NPI) — Cassius Marcellus Clay, Sr., father of world's heavyweight boxing champion, has been placed under $1,000 bond and warned to stay away from a woman who accused him of beating her.

Marian Dorsey, 33, said that the elder Clay, 51, struck her in the back with his fists during an altercation in her home. The judge told them, to "act like adults and stay away from each other."

Clay denied the charges, stating that he was at home on the night of the alleged beating. His wife, Mrs. Odessa Clay, also testified that her husband was at home at the time.

The court hearing erupted into a shouting match between Mrs. Clay and Miss Dorsey. According to reports, Mrs. Clay called Miss Dorsey "a liar" during the hearing.

CLEVELAND WILLIAMS UNDERGOES SURGERY

HOUSTON (NPI) — Cleveland Williams, heavyweight contender who was shot by a Texas policeman, is doing well after undergoing two hours of surgery to correct a kidney condition arising from the shooting.

Williams, who was shot in the back on Dec. 20, is now in a hospital in Houston. He is expected to make a full recovery.

Williams is a professional boxer from Cleveland, Ohio. He has a record of 12 wins and 1 loss.

Williams is currently ranked as a top contender for the heavyweight championship. He is expected to fight again in the near future.

Sport magazine honors Oscar, other tan stars

Four tan athletes, including Oscar Robertson (Cincinnati Reds)—college basketball; Joe Frazier (Olympic heavyweight title holder)—boxing; Fred Hutchinson (manager of the Cincinnati Reds who died Nov. 12 after a long siege with cancer, was named recipient of the magazine's "Man of Year" award for 1964 for exhibiting unusual courage in facing his illness).

Other winners of Top Performers awards were as follows: Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts—pro football; Dick Butkus, University of Illinois linebacker—college football; Jean Beliveau of the Montreal Canadiens—hockey; Tony LeMa—golf; and Roy Emerson—tennis.

Also Don Schollander, winner of four gold medals in the Olympics—swimming, distance runner; Peter Snell of New Zealand, also an Olympic champion track and field; and Eddie Neloy—horse racing.

Robertson, the NBA's third leading scorer with a 30-point average, was named "Top Performer" in Pro Basketball for his all-around play as back court artist for the Cincinnati Royals.

The Big O, who hit a career high of 56 points Dec. 20 against the Los Angeles Lakers, leads the NBA in assists averaging 10 per game.

Also winning "Top Performer" awards were: Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles—baseball; Walt Hazzard of UCLA (now playing with the Los Angeles Lakers)—college basketball.

But gave up the game Dec. 23 upon learning that their second leading scorer for the game, junior Jesse Lowry, was scholastically ineligible. Lowry scored 15 points in that game.

Following the New Castle game, the Tigers will take a rest before running into what must be the most rugged two weeks any team in the state will meet.

The Tigers will meet 14th ranked Lebanon (8-1) on Jan. 15, 3rd ranked Anderson (7-1) on the following night, go into the city tourney Jan. 21 where they could meet either Washington or Manual, and then battle undefeated Gary Roosevelt, the state's No. 1 team, on Jan. 30.

Also on Saturday night, the Shortridge Blue Devils (4-3) will meet Cathedral (4-4), and Tech (4-3) will play North Central (2-3).

University of Georgia's '12th man' dies at 63

ATLANTA (NPI)—The "12th man" on the University of Georgia's football team is dead. He was Pleas Starks, 63, who was known to the players as Clegg.

Although Georgia still has to admit a Negro to its playing roster, Clegg was a tradition. He died at 63 of a heart attack.

He was nine years old when he first showed up on the campus at Athens. His love for the Bulldog football and baseball teams made him the most distinguished waterboy in the history of college sports.

His first job at Georgia was yard boy, but he was drawn by the athletic teams. Starting off with coach Alex Cunningham, he worked with all the other notables down through the years.

In another day and age, Clegg might have been a great athlete. He played with a Negro baseball league, and boasted of out-pitching the legendary Satchel Paige by "raring back and throwing my smoker."

There is also the possibility that he could throw a football further than any player he saw during his years at Georgia.

His ability with the football became one of the legends on the campus. No one ever took him up on his claim that he could pass the length of the field.

Clegg reportedly got his nickname through a speech defect. When he was a kid, the other youngsters thought he was saying Clegg instead of Pleas. The name stuck.

NEW ORLEANS (NPI) — For the first time since it started in 1955, the Sugar Bowl track meet was integrated here Tuesday with such Negro stars as Richard Stebbins, Grambling College and Theron Lewis, Texas Southern University, competing in the 400-meter and the 100-meter dashes.

Hayes voted top player for South

BOB HAYES

Bob Hayes of Florida A. and M. University, who became one of two Negroes to play for the first time in the annual North-South all-star Shrine football game was voted his squad's outstanding player after the game Christmas day.

The North won the game 37-30 behind the passing-receiving combination of Notre Dame's John Huarte (who won the North's outstanding player citation) and Jack Snow.

Hayes, commonly called "the world's fastest human," scored a touchdown in the fourth quarter as the South came from behind to tie the game 30-30 with 58 seconds remaining in the final quarter.

The Olympic gold medal winner streaked 39 yards for the TD on a pass from Navy's 1963 Heisman Trophy winner Roger Staubach.

In golf for instance, Charlie Sifford continues to expand the foothold he had gained earlier, and now must be counted among the nation's leading pro money winners. And whereas he was alone before, he now gets a big assist, and some competition, from a guy named Pete Brown, a young golfer with tremendous potential.

In hockey, Canadian-born Willie O'Ree, who made headlines as the first Negro to enter the major league with the Boston Bruins, continues his drive in the minors, on the West Coast, for another fling at the big show.

The incomparable Pele of Brazil continues his domination of soccer. He is only the world's greatest soccer player, and its greatest money earner. Pele is the Willie Mays of soccer.

The past year also saw the rise of young Arthur Ashe in tennis. The first Negro to be named a member of the U.S. Davis Cup team, Ashe, of Richmond, Va., and a UCLA student is bidding fair to emulate his female counterpart, Althea Gibson, who once ruled the game as the Wimbledon and U.S. women's singles champion.

Of course, such greats as Mays, in baseball; Jim Brown, in football, and Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain and Oscar Robertson, in basketball, continue to rule in their respective sports.

HOWEVER, due perhaps to a combination of race and economics, Negroes have been shut out in such sports as polo and yachting. And boxing, where Negroes really dominate, has gone into a temporary decline. I am sure, however that the sport will somehow regain stature.

At present, an Afro-American, Cassius Muhammad Ali, rules boxing as heavyweight champion, regardless of what the "laughable" World

1965 predictions, hopes

FOR NEGRO PRESS INTERNATIONAL

CHICAGO — Once more, another year is drawing to a close and a new year, with its promises and challenges, is upon us. And once again it is my pleasure -- this time as the sports prognosticator for the new enterprising Negro Press International -- to extend to all our sports readers the wish for another pleasure-filled year.

But the wish for greater things in sports is not restricted to the fans alone. It extends also to the athletes -- to the headline makers, who really make this column possible.

To athletes of every stripe and the normally hard-pressed Negro athletes, in particular, I extend greetings and congratulations for their outstanding contributions in '64. I salute their valor and determination in the face of increasing competition and tremendous odds.

To them, also, I extend the hope for even greater successes in '65.

But any projection into the future must necessarily be coupled with some sober advice which I am offering later in this essay.

Even a cursory reflection on the achievements of tan athletes in '64 plainly points to even greater accomplishments for them in '65.

In the months just past, tan athletes made steady progress in almost every major sport field and have battered down heretofore barriers in several others.

A few of these advances quickly come to mind.

In golf for instance, Charlie Sifford continues to expand the foothold he had gained earlier, and now must be counted among the nation's leading pro money winners. And whereas he was alone before, he now gets a big assist, and some competition, from a guy named Pete Brown, a young golfer with tremendous potential.

3 Negroes make Parade's high school All-American

Eleven of the nation's top high school football players were designated this week in Parade magazine's second annual All-America selection. Three members of the squad, selected Sunday, are Negroes.

The team was selected after hundreds of high school and college coaches and professional scouts had been polled, as well as sports writers and columnist who specialize in high school competition.

ALVIN PROCTOR, a center from Fremont High School, Los Angeles, who stands 6-0 and weighs 195. He plays as offensive center and defensive outside linebacker, and can run the 100 under 10.9. He is credited with making almost 50 percent of all his team's tackles.

LARRY LARSUEL, a guard from Washington High School, Massillon, O. He 5-10, 206 pound standout plays guard offensively and tackle defensively. His blocking and tackling have been a big asset in helping Massillon become one of the finest teams in the country.

CALVIN HILL, a 6-3 210 pound end from Riverdale Country School, Bronx N.Y. Turned by Columbia's coach Buff Donelli as a lad who "can't miss as a collegian," he also plays halfback and quarterback.

January, the world our area, in renewal

The world's great age begins anew,
The golden years return,
The earth doth like a snake renew
Her winter weeds outgrown.
— PERCY B. SHELLEY (1792-1822)

Now comes January exalting or exaggerating somewhere, sometimes nature's spectacles of the season — frost-bound groves or glens, thick-coming snow storms, icicles above and waterways or terrain much the same heavy laden with sheaths of ice. Hill and dale, more or less, are bare in the aftermath of manners of hibernal desolation.

The cursory greensward and sylvan verdure long have bowed to winter's domination here, there and everywhere. Otherwise on the dawn of January winter in all of its boreal splendors or inclemencies attains its climax. The golden days of autumn are far behind with their colorful glow of Indian summer. For man or beast in some areas winter affords both delight and despair as the transition of nature moves ever ahead.

Winter comes, and winter will pass and, to some, on looking ahead the month of January and the season are fleeting. Over our latitude of the earth man is confronted with the challenge of making the most of the beginning of the year. And as winter comes, or passes spring cannot be far behind.

January, the first month of our calendar year was considered the like by the Romans as far back as 251 B.C. The Romans held the month sacred to the two-headed god, "Janus." Janus had one head looking backward into the past. The other head looked forward into the future.

His name was derived from the same root as the Latin word, "Janua." This word meant "a gate or opening." Janus was the god of the day and the beginning of the year. As the "spirit of opening," he was invoked at the beginning of all undertakings. He was considered also to be the particular patron of tillers of the soil.

Thus we reflect on the prosaic observation — if winter comes, spring cannot be far behind. Winter in poetic fancy is the "mother of spring," and spring in our part of the world is the season of renewal of geponic and sylvan verdures.

The Night is mother of the Day,
The Winter of the Spring.
And ever upon old Decay,
The greenest mosses cling.

— JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER (1807-1892)

Vote ban in Dixie faces new challenge

During the month of November, 1964, attorneys for the NAACP Legal Defense Fund filed a suit in the U.S. District Court, Washington, D.C. seeking to unseat 21 southern congressmen or members of the U.S. House of Representatives.

The plaintiffs, through their attorneys, charge that defendants in the suit have failed to, or never tried to enforce Section 2 of the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. U.S. Secretary of Commerce, Luther Hodges and Director of the Bureau of Census, Richard M. Scammon have been named defendants by the NAACP Legal Defense Fund attorneys.

Both Negro and white persons, twenty-two, plaintiffs to the legal action are from six northern states and three southern states. The plaintiffs are citizens and registered voters in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, California, Virginia, Mississippi and Louisiana.

The 15 northern plaintiffs, each seek relief from "debasing and dilution of his or her vote arising from defendants' failure to enforce" Section 2 of the Fourteenth Amendment. Each of the southern plaintiffs charge his or her right to vote has been denied or abridged by their state in a manner giving rise to a reduction in the population basis for apportionment of the state as provided by Section 2.

Each of the ten southern plaintiffs allege that his or her state would lose one or more representatives in the U.S. House on the basis of an apportionment executed by defendants in accordance with Section 2 of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Section 2 of the Fourteenth Amendment provides that:

"When the right to vote . . . is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being 21 years of age . . . the basis for representation (in Congress) therein shall be reduced in proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole male citizens 21 years of age in such state . . ."

Current interpretations include women citizens.

Following the 1872 act of Congress implementing the Amendment the Bureau of Census attempted to comply by collecting statistics of denial and abridgement of the right to vote during the Census of 1870. But the Constitutional clause has been ignored ever since.

Counsel for the defendants offered a motion of dismissal. But in opposing the motion the plaintiffs' attorneys presented Dr. Abram J. Jaffe as a witness. Dr. Jaffe associated with Columbia University's Bureau of Applied Social Research told the Court that it is possible to enforce Section 2. But the Bureau of Census had never tried to enforce it under modern conditions. In an affidavit he stated, it would be "premature and unrealistic" to conclude that the Bureau could not accurately measure denial and abridgement of the right to vote.

NAACP Legal Defense Fund attorneys noted a number of citations the Supreme Court case of "Wesberry vs. Sanders (decided Feb. 18, 1964) in which the Supreme Court held unconstitutional a Georgia congressional apportionment under which one Congressional District had three times the population of another.

Dr. Jaffe, distinguished and widely published social scientist computed a sample apportionment taking Section 2, of the Fourteenth Amendment into account. On the basis of his explorations something new may be in the making on the denial of the right to vote to a vast group of people over the Southland.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The kingdom is at hand

REV. J. T. HIGHBAUGH

(LARGER LESSON: Matthew 3:1-12. LESSON PRINT: Matt. 3:1-12. MOTTO TEXT: Matt. 3:2. TIME: About A.D. 26. PLACE: Wilderness of Judea.)

I visited sometime ago a meeting of ministers of Dayton, Ohio, and the Board of Public Safety. The ministers had come in to see what could be done relative to the increase of violence, theft, rape, vandalism and general crime in the town.

The high point of the meeting was when one of the big burly red policemen turned on the humble preacher and said whimsically, "I thought this was a John the Baptist act calling Dayton lawmen back to God!"

Well, while John was not putting on an act or a student, this is the last great call of the prophets to Israel. Come let us go back to God. To the paths our fathers travel.

Sin has marked the path we trod
O come let us go back to God.

Consider these outlines please:
1. The Wilderness Preacher Matt. 3:1, 4
2. The Kingdom Matt. 3:2
3. Lives Worthy of the King Matt. 3:7-10
4. Judgement or Opportunity, Which? Matt. 3:11-12

THE WILDERNESS PREACHER: This business of being preacher has always been paradoxical and has never been popular for two long. John was the son of Zacharias, the priest who God by an angel especially directed to be the father of John the Baptist.

No doubt John endeavored to live the life of a priest but like Luther found it difficult and broke with his home church to become a man who walked alone with God. So, into the wilderness he went to try to live true to God alone.

But John had learned that life could not be lived in seclusion. So somewhere near the ford of the Jordan he began crying "Repent ye. Repent ye!" And peculiar to that almost out of the way place, thousands flocked. Some way God gives us our audience if we live surrendered lives.

I think nothing tells John's devotion to his message and master better than these words in John 3:30: "I must decrease but He must increase."

The will on the part of a preacher, Sunday School teacher, deacon, mother, soul winner, any worker to surrender himself and make Christ all is the essence of success. John almost lost that once when he asked, "Art thou the Christ or look we for another?"

THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN: The term, the Kingdom of Heaven, is used 32 times in the Book of Matthew. Matthew emphasizes the earthly rule of Jesus as the Messianic King of Israel. The King of Heaven is called the rule of the heavens over the earth. Matt. 6:10.

It is derived from Daniel 2:34-36, 44, 7:23-27 where it is defined as the kingdom which the "God of Heaven" will set up after the destruction by the "stone cut out without hands" of the gentile world system. It was the Kingdom covenant to David's seed. II Samuel 7:1-10.

You see the Kingdom of Heaven is presented in Matthew as an effort to connect Jesus, the son of Mary, with Abraham and David as the rightful covenant king of the Jews offering himself as their king.

The lessons of this quarter are very pertinent to current history in the study of current history. Many of you recall that in 1948, the Republic of Israel was established and the Jews were flocking back to the land of their nativity.

Dr. Charles E. Fuller, my radio preacher, calls this the "Budding of the Big Tree Parable in Fulfillment. Matt. 24, 32, 33, 34. And thö he tells us no man knows when the son shall come in His glory, he says, "Its later than we think!"

Stay with us all this quarter in the history of the great Jewish race in Jesus' day.

LIVES WORTHY OF REPENTANCE: How disturbed John was about the professing sons of Abraham. Their ugly swank pride had made them believe that they were indispensable to the Kingdom of God. They were almost ready to say, "Look here Lord, how necessary I am to the whole program of redemption. What would you do without me?"

JUDGE OF OPPORTUNITY, WHICH? The term the ax is laid at the root of the tree is an announcement of judgement. This lesson seems to say you have already been marked as a tree rotting at the roots and I have marked you for destruction or you are like a thrashing floor which is pushing the wheat outdoors but is burning the chaff with unquenchable fire. This is a very sobering thought on this first Sunday in the year.

1964 was a great year in spite of Mississippi

By ANDREW RAMSEY

1964 began some forty odd days after the assassination of John Fitzgerald Kennedy and America had its fingers crossed on Lyndon Johnson, the first Southerner to occupy the White House since the Civil War.

Negroes and civil rights advocates took heart (with a grain of salt) when the new president promised to carry out the unfinished business of his martyred predecessor.

The civil rights revolution which had reached its zenith in emotional impact was in full swing as the year began and civil rights leaders were urging congressmen and senators to pass the civil rights bill sponsored by JFK.

Finally late in the Spring, the bill was passed and the president signed it into the law of the land. The jubilation was less than unanimous. The Southern die-hards continued to wage the Civil War and in the state of Mississippi white supremacy was maintained regardless of the cost. When three civil rights workers disappeared in the benighted town of Philadelphia, Mississippi, the nation and the world feared the worst.

And the worst was what it turned out to be. After weeks and weeks, the bodies of the young men were discovered and months later it was established by the FBI that twenty-one of the local gentry had conspired to deprive the civil rights workers of their rights and their lives and to dispose of their bodies so that they could not be found without someone talking out of school.

THE MEN were duly charged by the FBI with perpetrating the crime, but they were released from custody by a friendly U.S. Commissioner and as the year ended there was little indication that the state of Mississippi headed by arch-segregationist Governor Paul Johnson would even attempt to indict them for murder or that U.S. Judge William Harold Cox would even convene a federal grand jury to have them indicted for conspiracy to deprive the civil rights workers of their civil rights.

The counter revolutionary actions were not confined to the state of Mississippi. Her sister state of Alabama spawned an exponent of white supremacy in the person of Governor George Wallace, who came into the North as a mission for the particular brand of hate popular among the Kluxers and White Citizens councils of his native state.

The Alabama Governor filed in the primaries of Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland and found thousands of wild-eyed sympathizers in each of these states. All of which encouraged the arch conservatives to wrest control of the Republican Party and to make an all out effort to turn the clock back a couple of generations with Senator Barry Goldwater as their standard bearer. The 1964 presidential campaign was unique in the annals of American politics. The GOP which had once owned the complete allegiance of the Negro openly ignored the voter and played to the anti-Negro South. The result was a landslide for the Democratic national ticket and most state and local tickets.

President Johnson was elected by the biggest majority in history and the Republicans found themselves strong only in the segregationist states of Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Louisiana and in Arizona. Hundreds of Negroes were swept into office in most of the states of the union including Georgia and Alabama and the Negro electorate became a force to be reckoned with all over the nation. In Indiana four Negroes were elected to the lower house of the legislature and one to the upper.

AS 1964 comes to a close there is great speculation about what the year has brought in the way of hope for the civil rights revolution.

Just what can the Negro expect 1965 to bring as a result of the events of 1964.

Nationally we expect to see the administration appoint more Negroes to policy making and high salaried positions possibly of cabinet rank. We also expect the poverty program to do much to improve the lot of the most deprived Negroes and we also expect the federal government to do something about extending the franchise and civil rights to the Negroes of Mississippi and Alabama.

In Indiana we expect more significant appointments of Negroes in the state administration, laws on open occupancy and against the anti-miscegenation. We also expect the state to come to grips with the problems of de facto segregation of Negro pupils and the implementation of the 1949 anti-segregated schools law in regard to Negro personnel.

In short we expect in 1965 to reap the benefits of the harvest of 1964 which despite Mississippi was a good year for civil rights. It was not the millennium but it gave greater hopes to the downtrodden among American citizens than any other year in our history with the possible exception of 1863 (The Emancipation Proclamation) and 1865 (the end of the Civil War).

The Urban League

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG, JR.

Judging from my mail, there are some readers of this paper who don't know how the Urban League operates. Begging the kind indulgence of your editor, I'd like to describe the Movement, particularly for the benefit of that man in Switzerland who wrote in asking if I played second base.

The Urban League, founded in 1910, grew out of the Niagara Movement, which also produced the NAACP a year earlier. This turn-of-the-century movement derived its name, when Negro leaders called a State-of-the-Race conference in Buffalo, N.Y., but had to cross the Falls to Canada when no hotel on the American side would admit them.

THEIR PLEA for justice was endorsed by the crusading Ruth Standish Baldwin, a socially prominent white woman who envisioned a time when increasingly larger numbers of Negro citizens would be pouring into our central cities in search of a better life.

Initially, the League's main emphasis was in finding jobs. But gradually it grew to include housing, health and welfare services, and education. Today, it has branches in 70 cities and over 600 professional staff members, more than 6,000 volunteers and tens of thousands of members of both races.

The League's emphasis is interracial. About 20 percent of its staff is white and its boards of directors in all cities are working examples of the harmonious manner in which white and black people can cooperate. While the League aims mainly at helping Negroes rise out of poverty, there is no disadvantaged person who will meet a closed door.

A typical branch will do the following kinds of things: "It will research and make public all the salient facts about the conditions of non-white citizens in its community, urging top government, business, civic, and labor leaders to make changes voluntarily."

"It will open its doors as conciliator and mediator of disputes, providing a forum when potentially dangerous hostilities can be evaporated by give-and-take discussions."

"It will operate an employment and guidance service, obtaining lists of positions open to Negroes on a non-discriminatory basis and recruiting qualified applicants. In most cities, the League's goal is not to operate a full-time employment agency but to make pilot placements which will change hiring and promotion patterns to give Negroes an even break.

"It will make an assessment of the availability, or lack of, health and welfare services. It will inform the Negro community of available services and work to open facilities not available to them."

OPERATING in the belief that Truth is a liberator, League executives speak regularly before civic groups throughout their cities, attempting to lessen tensions while urging real and lasting reforms. They expose slum landlords, hospitals which turn away Negro patients, and tax-sponsored programs which deny participation to Negroes.

More recently, Leagues have been obtaining Federal grants to initiate retraining programs; to give guidance to methods of improving housing; and for disseminating information vital to the Negro community. Nearly all Leagues wage year-around "Stay in School" campaigns, hitting hard at the need for obtaining an education—and hitting just as hard at school boards which short-change Negro kids.

Although League charters forbid picketing and other forms of direct action, they nevertheless work closely with other civil rights organizations. Few people who see a family rise out of poverty, or a hungry baby get a bottle of fresh milk from a working father, doubt the everyday drama of the Urban League movement. Of greatest satisfaction to me is the League's symbol: Two figures, one white and the other Negro, striding forward together under the words: "American Teamwork Works."

The civil rights leaders today recognize that, to the mature and the intelligent person, there is no rivalry among rights agencies. All are needed to help Negroes help themselves.

Verse

"A Cerebric Conflation"

"A Cerebric Conflation" — GL
The soul shackled by biased aim,
Is governed by neither heart nor brain:
Thru trial and error runs out the sand
Of the confused, erratic thoughts of man.

As we try to qualify our claim,
The cycle of justice remains the same:
For moron, genius, the weak, the strong,
The cycle must punish right with wrong.

Though right indeed, must conquer wrong,
To whom do the resulting spoils belong?
Oh! Where does the balance lay?
Is it for mere mortals to say?

Or is man led by some sovereign mind?
His decisions to render for all mankind;
His rule a staunch emollient,
To sooth the wrong that right has rent.

Unclothe the eye, dismount the scale,
Requite the meek, unbind the frail;
Diffuse the four of which we wrote,
The guiding mind shall then make note.

We'll spread this blended recipe,
For the minds of mankind to perceive;
That they may ascend a higher plain,
And our effort, then, be not in vain.

Down HOPKINSVILLE Way

By EDGAR A. IRVIN

Appreciation services were held at the Main Street Baptist Church on last Friday evening honoring the pastor, the Rev. J. R. Hunt. An interesting program was held with Rev. A. Bell, moderator of the First District, Rev. A. R. Lasley, moderator of the Negro Baptists of the State of Kentucky, Rev. E. E. Pullen, Rev. H. B. Taylor, and Mrs. H. B. Taylor, representing the Women's Convention participation. Musical selections were rendered by the singing groups of the church, Rev. Hunt who has pastored Main Street for the past 32 years, is one of the oldest and most widely known ministers of the city. He will retire from the pastorate of Main Street after Dec. 27. The honoree received many useful gifts and a nice purse.

The Attucks High School Glee Club sang Christmas Carols at the Planters Bank & Trust Company on Wednesday. The group, under the direction of Mrs. S. Seebree, director of Music at Attucks sang a number of both old and new seasonal selections.

Rev. G. L. Foston delivered the Christmas message at the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church Sunday morning. Following the service the group held a "get-together" hour and a covered dish luncheon was served. The congregation visited the home of underprivileged families carrying "Christmas Cheer" in the afternoon. Rev. E. D. Radford is their pastor.

Mrs. Eugenia Evans left Tuesday night and will spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Annie Vaughn in Baton Rouge, La. Mrs. Evans will also visit other relatives and friends in New Orleans, La., before returning to the city.

Mrs. Laura Williams of Cleveland, O., is the house guest of her granddaughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Mumford. She will also visit relatives in the County while here.

Mrs. Margena Bell Williams of 953 Lucy Street, Lexington, Ky., underwent surgery at a Lexington Hospital this week. Her condition is reported as improving satisfactorily. Mrs. Williams is the daughter of Lucian Bell of this city.

Spec/4 Frank D. White, son of Frank White of the County has re-enlisted in the regular Army for six years. He is currently stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas. The son of Mrs. Herlika Moore, he is also an Attucks High School graduate.

The funeral of George France was conducted Dec. 17 at First Street Baptist Church with his pastor, Rev. B. F. Green officiating. Burial was in the Cave Spring Cemetery with Adams Funeral Home in charge. Mr. France died at his home after an illness of several months. Those surviving are three sisters, Misses Lucy, Ida and Thelma France; one brother, Willie France; two nieces; four nephews and one aunt.

Kluxer who punched Nat (King) Cole being sued in Ala.

BIRMINGHAM (UPI) — A Negro motorist has filed suit against an acknowledged Ku Klux Klan member after being chased from the white man's service station.

The complainant is Wedzell Escott, who said his car window was smashed when he asked for service in the Anniston, Ala., station.

The station is owned by Kenneth L. Adams who has a record of racial incidents. He is the man who was charged with punching Nat (King) Cole in 1956 and for taking part in the burning of a Freedom Rider bus in 1961.

Escott said that he and two other Negroes were refused service at Adams' station on Sept. 16. He said that two white men came to his car and told him to "get the hell out of here and don't give me any back talk."

Cosby Subs For Carson On 'Tonight'

Comedian Bill Cosby will act as host on NBC-TV's "Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson" Monday, Jan. 4 (colorcast 11:15 p.m.-1 a.m. PST; 10:15 p.m.-12 mid. CST).

Cosby a frequent guest on the late-night comedy, conversation and music show, is one of the promising young comedians.

Negro minister honored by Monroe County Council

BLOOMINGTON — A 51-year-old Negro Baptist minister was recently named winner of the 15th annual Monroe County Community Council Meritorious Service Award.

Rev. E. D. Butler, pastor of Second Baptist Church, was cited with the award primarily because of his tireless efforts in the field of civil rights.

In making the announcement, Mrs. A. C. Kinsey, 1963 winner said: "Rev. Butler has modestly participated in many community activities concerned with the individual, unemployment and youth.

"HIS PATIENCE and courage in helping us to recognize human injustices has contributed much to more peaceful methods and approaches to implement federal legislation to guarantee and protect the rights of all individuals in our community."

Rev. Butler, an active NAACP worker, is vice-president of the Indiana Citizens Committee for Fair Housing, vice-president of the Mayor's Committee on Human Relations and last year was president of the He and his wife, Mary, are Fairview School PTA.

Rev. Butler, pastor of Second Baptist the past five years, is a native of Cornersville. He has attended Franklin College and taken courses from Moody Bible Institute in Chicago.

He and his wife, Mary, are the parents of eight children. Only two of them are still living at home—Jimmy, a Dyer Junior High School student, and Florence, who works at RCA and takes courses at Indiana University.

Four of his children are teachers. Their oldest son is teaching for the government in Germany. The others are teaching in Philadelphia, Cincinnati and at Attucks High School in Indianapolis.

South's 'lost cause' giving way to progress

By O. C. W. TAYLOR

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—It looks as if Confederate general Robert E. Lee will have to move. He has occupied a space for a number of years high above the street at the corner of Howard Avenue and St. Charles Street. Traffic has been forced to make a circle to get around him.

But Robert E. Lee and the LOST CAUSE, the Confederacy, has been considered a sacred institution, a holy image; and obstruction of traffic was a minor incident. Now comes someone, simply designated in the State-Item newspaper's "Letter to the Editor" column as E. H. R., who suggests that the honorable general be made to move over and make way for progress.

Soon someone may write and suggest that Dixie no longer be sung; that the Confederate flag not be permitted to be flown; and maybe the War Between the States be given a second trial with maybe a real victory this time.

CHURCH DEDICATION SET: The Turner Chapel AME Church, the oldest Negro church in Ft. Wayne, will be closing its doors at 801 E. Wayne for the first time since 1874. Under its present minister, Rev. S. D. Hardrick, a five-year expansion program was initiated in 1961, with the purchase of a new parsonage. Dedication of the new church edifice, located at 836 E. Jefferson, will be Jan. 3 at 4 p.m. Conducting the service will be Bishop Joseph Gomez, presiding prelate of the Fourth Episcopal District of the AME Church. He will be assisted by the Rev. J. Allen Parker, presiding elder of the Northern District of the Indiana Conference, and Rev. Hardrick.

Happy New Year!

Famed Detroit lawyer buried

DETROIT (UPI)—Funeral services were held for Atty. Francis M. Dent, 70, one of the nation's most outstanding civil rights lawyers.

Dent, who had been a local resident for 45 years, had been confined in Veterans Hospital since last May.

At the time of his death, a committee of prominent citizens was completing plans for a testimonial dinner to honor his contributions to the city.

Dent gained national recognition while fighting a restrictive covenant case through the U.S. Supreme Court.

A native of Georgia, he was a member of the State Bar of Michigan, the Detroit Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Clotey Y. Dent; a daughter, Mrs. Grace F. Willis, of Washington, D.C.; two brothers, William M. Dent, of East Hampton, Long Island, N.Y., and Thomas M. Dent, Jr., of San Pablo, Calif.

Tuning in on ANDERSON

By Madelyn Irvin — Phone 644-5179

ANDERSON — Miss Paula Sue King was hostess to the newly-organized Junior Phyllis Wheatley Club. Members discussed possible fund raising projects.

Young ladies attending were the Misses Loretta McCloud, Ora Campbell, Pauletta Wilkins, Mary Wilkins, Twila Jones, Marlene Arthey, Adele LaRue, Celia LaRue, Jackie Newsome, and Sally Cochran. Mrs. Pearl Johnson is advisor.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John B. German was the scene of the Mr. and Mrs. Club's recent Christmas party. Guests attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Andrew Woodard, David Liggins, Lonnie Cooper, and Joe Bowman.

Members are Messrs. and Mmes. Leon Brooks, Aaron Hill, Arthur Hillard, and Elbert Jones.

Drawing prize was won by Mrs. James Dawson. Next meeting will be Sunday, Jan. 3 with Mr. and Mrs. Hillard. The Buds of Promise Chorus held its Christmas party at Wallace Temple AME Zion Church. Mmes. J. Carter, Gertrude Weatherly, James L. Stean and Ruby May were chaperons.

A large audience witnessed Sunday, Dec. 2 the appreciation program at Wallace Temple AME Zion Church for Mrs. Ovidia Shacklett, pianist, who has served the church for a number of years.

Her faithfulness has been a beacon of light to both old and new members of the church. The pastor, Rev. W. A. Rosebrough, was principal speaker. Remarks were given by Isaac Weatherly and B. J. May.

Mrs. Shacklett, as well as Rev. Rosebrough, was presented a generous monetary gift.

Rev. Rosebrough is presently in Detroit visiting his wife who is ill.

Locke Club members will hold their annual New Year's Eve dance at the National Guard Armory. The Esquires of Dayton, Ohio, will entertain. Sullie Wilkins is Locke Club president.

The Home and Foreign Missionary Society of Wallace Temple held its annual holiday gathering in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Stean. Mrs. Ovidia Shacklett is president.

Those ill in the community include John Clemon, Roosevelt Sparks, Ronald Smith, Curtis Wright, Mrs. Anna Glaze, Mrs. Helen Sanderson, Joe Stean, Mrs. Idella Cunningham, Mrs. Jessie Pearson, Mrs. Sara Maxwell, Mrs. Dorothy Carter, James Copeland, Mrs. Robert Garrett and Martha Kim Gilliam.

Isaac Milhouse Jr., three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Milhouse Sr., died Dec. 16 at Riley Hospital in Indianapolis.

Survivors, besides the parents, include two sisters, Misses Lawanda Blanch and Gwendolyn Denise Milhouse, both at home; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ike Milhouse, Anderson; the maternal grandparents, Mrs. Lena Gore, Campbell, O.; great-grandmothers, Mrs. Rebecca Brazil and Mrs. Nellie Milhouse.

Arson suspected in death of Louisiana civil rights worker

FERRIDAY, La. — Unofficial sources disclosed that the FBI is looking into a fire which fatally injured Frank Morris, 51, here Thursday, Dec. 1.

Mr. Morris, a member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, active in civil rights work, died from burns over 90 per cent of his body.

Reportedly, two white men walked into Mr. Morris' shoe repair shop and started spilling gasoline around. When he came out from his living quarters in the rear, he was turned back. Moments later, there was a burst of flames, the informant said, a loud pop and Mr. Morris came running out on fire. The flames were beaten out, but he later died in a hospital.

Tan artist named American of the year for 1964

NEW ORLEANS — (UPI) John D. Payne, an art instructor at Southern University was recently chosen by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the outstanding young men in America, and will appear in the organization's 1965 edition of outstanding young men.

Payne, a child prodigy, was graduated from Washington (D.C.) School of Art at the age of 16. He did undergraduate work at Beloit College, Wis., and graduate work at the University of Wisconsin.

With his talent and aptitude for art, Payne has experienced success in commercial arts, working with special groups, and has had exhibits in midwestern, eastern and southern states. His specialties and research are in graphics, painting, sculpture, and architectural and product design.

AME BISHOP ON CHURCH COMMITTEE: Bishop Joseph Gomez (right) of Cleveland, newly elected member of the Executive Committee of the National Council of Churches (NCC), discusses progress made by the NCC's Commission on Religion and Race with the council's president, Bishop Reuben H. Mueller of Indianapolis, during sessions of the council's general board meeting in Des Moines, Iowa, recently. Bishop Gomez, who supervises the AME Church in Indiana and five other mid-western states, is the only Negro serving on the 25-member policy-making committee.

THE AVENUE

HERE'S WISHING YOU AND YOURS A HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR. WIRES FOR THE NEW YEAR: That Mrs. Mattie Conroy, organizer of the Citizens Forum, have a tremendously successful year in her fight for a better, cleaner and safer neighborhood. And proof of her program to get these things done is the awarding of $9,000 by the Lilly Endowment Inc. to support the organization's campaign for improvement of inner city neighborhoods.

All Indianapolis should feel proud of this woman, a fourth grade teacher at Public School 36, 2801 N. Capitol Ave., who has come up with an idea that should become nationwide. One is bound to see the changing conditions in certain neighborhoods in which our people have moved. This lone woman is fighting a battle in which she's bound to emerge a winner because she has the best people on her side. Let's rally around this energetic and dedicated lady and help her in the work in which she is so nobly engaged.

1965 should be a grand year for a fine lady! DEATHS: The year's end brought sadness to this writer because of the deaths of persons whom he knew very well. CORNELIUS RICHARDSON: We first met this brilliant and affable lawyer when we visited Richmond Ind., in the 1930's. He was at that time considered the most outstanding attorney in that town. At that time we worked for the Dayton Forum in Dayton, O. His death came as a real shock to the writer and many friends in Naptown who knew him as an outstanding citizen and fraternal leader.

EMMETT RUDOLPH: Here's a man we had known for many years and whose death came as a distinct surprise to us, because we had planned to visit him in his home at 740 W. 10th St. He was well known along the main stem, where he operated a club back in the '40's. A native of Tenn., he was a retired employee of the maintenance department of the Post Office. Mr. Rudolph was 74.

JESSE BAKER: Another friend of long standing, who visited us quite often for our usual chat. A native of Columbus, Ind., he had lived here 70 years. He enjoyed getting together with the boys every so often and talking about old times.

HERCIAL SUGGS: He died at 72. He knew all the gang here at The Recorder and was an employee of the Indianapolis Star for 15 years. They will all be missed by people in all walks of life. They were real people!

HOLIDAY GREETINGS FROM: Sarah and LeRoy Johnson, Ralph and Raymond, paper boys. Mrs. Mary Henry, Francis Armstrong and Family, Wesley, and Family, Mattie and Elmo Coney, Libby and Howard Filmore, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Norrell M. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Bronaugh, J. C. Mason, Commander, American Legion Charles Young Post, 208; Bessie M. Earl, Mr. Demone and Mr. Juan, Mary F. Wilson, Mrs. Cyrus Graham, Cyrus and Jeannette Graham.

GREETINGS FROM OUT-OF-TOWN: Mariella and Eddie (my brother) Gibson, Baltimore, Md., Mack Lewis, Dayton, Ohio; Bob Matthews, Michigan City, Ind., Edward D. Hansford Jr., Saint Paul, Minn.; Mrs. Katherine Johnson, Mount Vernon, N.Y.; Wilbur Cuthrell, Chicago, Ill.; Cecilia D. and Richard C. Stott, Rev. Leo Lesser Jr., Louisville Ky.; Elaine (my niece) Harris, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Jacques Durham, Michigan City, Ind. He sends a hello to "Capt." (Mr. Stewart), the ladies and the staff.

MORE GREETINGS: The Blairs — Mike, Hortense and Sharon, Sarah and Jimmie Collins, Mary and Robert Womack Eunice Works Jarrett, B. Tucker, and Willa Thomas.

OLD DONG: BELL gets two years extended employment in the Democrat-controlled state auditor's office. The ex-Columbia Club head waiter served in the office under the Republican Auditor Dorothy Gardner.

LEUTENANT Spurgeon Davenport should get a much deserved promotion to CAPTAIN. OFFICERS: Bill Lee, John Metzger and Detective Albert Booth, all good officers... and merits promotion. It would be nice to read about appointment of Negroes by newly-elected Democrats... on the county, state and national level... Our congressman and senator. (dig?) The New Year should see Negroes being hired as carpenters, electricians, plumbers, etc. in the maintenance department of our public school system. There are NO Negroes holding any of these jobs according to our info. We hope we're wrong!

LOTS of continued happiness to energetic and youngish Walter Orr, who'll be 103 years old (that's right) in February. Mr. Orr, who was introduced to the writer in The Recorder office Monday by Atty. and City Councilman Rufus Kuykendall, told us that he has lived here for 82 years and was born in N.C. and raised in Mississippi. He seems to have good sight and hearing and says he gets around by himself... even in his travels around the country. Continued on Page 5

Show rated best in years by happy, cheery patrons

By ST. CLAIR GIBSON

Another year has rolled around and another successful Christmas show has been seen, heard and enjoyed by hundreds of Naptown entertainment lovers, who bared the cold and threatening sleet to attend the 17th Annual Recorder Christmas Benefit show, held annually to raise monies for the city's needy.

The enjoyable part of the program, which ran continuously for 4 hours, was the fact that the more than 10 entertainers, including comics, singers, dancers and musicians, gave freely of their time and talent to help a worthy cause.

Those participating on the program were: Barbara Mitchell and Mary McLaya, who opened the bill with a clever dance routine that brought enormous applause from the audience... so good in fact, that they returned for a second appearance later in the show.

Others to follow include: The Esquires singing group; Jimmy Gilbert, soft shoe dancer with a widely-acclaimed reputation; Slim Reed and his dancing teenagers from the Illinois Shoe Repair Shop... and they were sensational; Bobby McGraw and the Del Kadens tore it up with their song route... this group is way out and should hit the top real soon; Maurine Duke proved to be a very capable dancer with a good outlook into the future;

Geraldine Polin, the comic singer from the Eastside, was real fine as usual. A girl destined to go places if she applies herself; Clarence Glass proved again that he is the talented hooper, his friends said he was... and came through like a champ; Louise Darby handled her songs well; Kenneth Johnson is the boy to watch. He handles his songs like a pro, in spite of the fact he's still in his early teens.

The Indianapolis Barbell and Karate Club almost stole the show with a half-dozen young men with muscles bulging in every direction. The ladies loved it... and some of the men. These young men performed all sorts of weightlifting feats, including breaking 1 x 2 1/2 inch concrete slabs a huge success.

All in all, it was a real good show and much of the credit goes to Bobby Campbell, emcee; Charles Duncan, stage director; Kenny Lewis and his house band, Ollie Garrett, who handled the sound system and many others who cooperated in every way to make the show a hit.

Local Nite Spots

PINK POODLE

Drummer Max Roach and his five-piece combo plus his beautiful wife, singer Abbey Lincoln, are all set for the gala New Year's Eve show Thursday night. Reservations are now being accepted. Don't miss this great attraction.

You MUST hear Mrs. Lincoln sing "Lover, Man," "Love For Sale," "Beautiful Lady," a song she wrote herself. This is one of the best shows to play the Poodle in a long time, and they should draw a capacity house this weekend. Ramsey-Lewis Trio opens at the Poodle on January 4.

MR. B'S JAZZ HOUSE

Hometown boy Freddie Hubbard, who has made good on the big time is back in town and wailing like mad nite at this northside bistro, located at 30th and Northwestern.

The boys have been packing 'em in during the holidays, and this weekend should see a still larger crowd on hand for the gala New Year's Eve party Thursday night. Be sure and dig the cats at Herschel Buckner's Mr. B's Pump Room this Thursday and Saturday nite.

RED ROOSTER

Bill McClure's House of the Blues is really rocking at 21st and Blvd. with the tunes of Willie Mabon infiltrating the air nite. Mabon really sends his audiences with such popular numbers as "September in the Rain," "You Are My Sunshine," "Honky Tonk," "Lonesome Blue Waters," "Blues After Hours," and many others. This cat is way out and still carries a lot of steam in spite of the fact he's been absent from the scene for a few years.

The Presidents to play Sunset New Year's Nite

AT SUNSET NEW YEAR'S DAY: The popular swinging group known as The Presidents, who are currently packin' 'em in at the Place To Play, will play a special holiday dance at the Sunset Terrace New Year's Day, Friday, Jan. 1, with hours from 10 p.m. till 5 a.m. The Moonlighters will play the dancery on New Year's Eve.

SEASON'S GREETINGS TO ALL

PINK POODLE UP FOR SALE

Mr. Raymond Lee well-known, local building contractor and owner of the Pink Poodle night club or tavern recently announced that he is offering the popular night spot for sale.

Mr. Lee states that he has enjoyed a brief and profitable adventure as a business operator in the entertainment field, but on the advent of the New Year he has been confronted with highly significant contracts in the construction field. This means that business of his immediate concern or the construction field will require his time and interests generally.

SEASON'S GREETINGS TO ALL

Teen Talk

By THE SNOOPER

In reply to the fact Joey Roberts is being sacked by Veronica Roberts: Little does Joey suspect she is being sacked for cute Sue Mac Donald. Barbara had best wiser up because Steve Miller is on the case with Bernadine. Joyce Blunt has her eyes on boss Emie Walker. Jackie C. lost a mellow fellow to a FOX named C. A. McCurtis.

Marcia Warren and Terry Dorton are lovers of the past. Linda Minter is digging a cool dude in Lockfield name unknown. Karen Rogers can't seem to get interested in anyone since Gerald Looper told her it's over. Ben Smith and Tanice Collins have called it quits. Mary Smith is keeping cool about a dude named Robert.

WILLIAM FRENCH is re-summing his playboy role and Madeline Smith is wise to it. Jackie White stopped singing to Buckey Stewart and changed the tune to Willie Lee. The Jean Collins-Houston Morris thing is still strong. Sheron Wimbleduff and James Gorton were singing the togetherness tune until Steve Gibson made his move.

Bertie Baker has her hands full pursuing Stephen. The Victoria Morgan - Madeline Smith fling has ended. Vernon Newsom idolizes Stephenie Roberts. Pearlita Young and Harry Davidson have let go of each other. Brenda Tompkins and Steven Wilson are inseparable. LaVetra Tardy is telling Tony Cole it's forever. Randy Rand mixed Peggy Dance for Debra Starks.

Diane Mathen is keeping Ronald Gibson's hopes up tight. LaVonne Jones and Sammy Turner are holding on to each other. Benny Thompson and Lolita Givens are still two lovers. Is Linda Anderson aware there's a boy friend around the corner who digs her? Donna Chandler wants to know if he's Linda's steady.

Franklin (Toot) Johnson and Delores Robinson want blessings for their love. Lola (Chicken) Hampton and De Willie have gone their separate ways. Karen Mockabee and Samuel Garner are true. Virginia Payne has poor Barry Hall out of his head. How's Beverly Boyce and William Clark? Margaret Jenkins wishes Philbert Akers would come see about her. Sandra Osborn is pleading for Samuel Washington to reach out for her.

MACK TURENTINE'S car was seen recently at Nelda Coe's crib. Ernestine Thomas and Arthur Mathis have it going good. Harriett Poindexter is trying hard to attract Arnold Armstrong's attention. A certain little fox will soon have Walter Johnson if Phyllis Todd doesn't tighten her game.

Garry Hoskins wants Deborah Easton to be true. All Gloria Ziko's scheming hasn't taken Norman Matthews from Sandra. Linda Ziko is sticking to Robert Easley like a stamp to a letter. Wendy Webster has "Tony X" tied up in knots. Kelly Bryant and Bobby are making sweet music. Samuel Mathone and Kathy Easton make a boss couple. Kathy Easton reminded Samuel Malone there are too many fish in the sea. Garry Hoskins and Deborah Easton are still a pair.

Carolyn Mason who do you want—Evans Porter or Gregory Scott? Jocelyn Minor has Razor Hamilton, Robert Smith, Bob Cooley and Jimmy Todd where she wants them. Sam Minor and his foxy girlfriend are really what's happening despite what Gloria Dozier thinks. Gerald T. has found a new love since Demetria Clay wants to be "that-a-way." Watch out Karen Roger. Shir-

Tipton. Only time will tell if Beverly Price is really settling down with Terry Robinson. Brenda Ratcliffe wants Bobby Bradshaw to stop taking her for granted. Does Leon Taylor really dig Mary Jones or is she a part time love? Evelina McCarty thinks Michael Watis has some boss action. Brenda Rhais informed Wendy she could have Bobby Bradshaw because J. W. is her shot now.

Marcia Warren has squared Jerry Dartin's game with Regina McWayne. Brenda Barnett wants no parts of Joe Lackey. Rae Young has her rap down to Lawrence Taylor. Carol Rice and Choo-Choo are still up tight. LaVonne Jones is talking some stuff to Sammie L. Joyce M. still has her eyes on Sco. Sylvia hasn't given up on Timothy yet. A certain young man from Wood is about to make his play for Ronella Martin. Michael Guston wants all of Phyllis Morris' attention.

Judy still has feelings for David. Brenda Harris places no one above Stephanie Washington. Rudy Johnson will never get a chance from Ronella Martin. It's over for Lana and Jimmie. She wants Charles. Richard is Donna's guy. Johnnie Mae could end Richard's loneliness. Carol Smith is singing "Goin' Out of My Head" to Duane Dumas. It seems to be vice-versa too.

SNOOPER TOP TEN: 1. COME SEE ABOUT ME, Supremes. 2. WHAT NOW, Gene Chandler. 3. WHEN SOMEONE'S GOOD TO YOU, Carolyn Crawford. 4. AMEN, Impressions. 5. THE JERK, Larks. 6. COME ON DO THE JERK, Miracles. 7. A THOUSAND CUPS OF HAPPINESS, Joe Hinton. 8. THE NAME GAME, Shirley Ellis. 9. STICKS AND STONES, Dean and Jean. 10. VOICE YOUR CHOICE, Raiders.
